Does a collective imagination still exist, and can art find the way to it? Can artists counteract the polarization and fragmentation of society by taking us into the depths of shared images, fears, values and beliefs?

The site-specific art platform The Image Generator is visiting Bulgaria. Artists from all over the world work together in the basement of the Municipal Cultural Institute "Krasno Selo" to create a labyrinth of performances and installations in the separate rooms of the bomb shelter.

In "What's Happening" the initiative is presented by organizers from Bulgaria and abroad - the choreographer and visual artist Christian Bakalov and the curator from Antwerp, where the site-specific happenings The Image Generator have been held for seven years, Meryem Bayram.

The Image Generator opens its doors on Saturday (October 8) at 3 p.m. at the Municipal Cultural Institute "Krasno Selo", and you can read a detailed program and more about the projects of the Bulgarian and foreign artists who came to the event here .
